- Date of hire is the first day they are employed, NOT the date the offer letter is signed.
- Term of appointment should be calculated based on the schedule listed above. Determine where they are in the process and how many years until the next step or reappointment.
- Departments can decide what materials are to be reviewed, if any, in addition to a CV.
- Temporary, Limited Term, and Part-time are NOT eligible for Graduate Faculty status.
- Retired Faculty: Faculty members who are retiring and are serving on advisory committees where the students have been admitted to candidacy, need not be reappointed to the Graduate Faculty to continue to serve on these students’ advisory committees. NOTE: Faculty members are immediately removed from the Graduate Faculty on their official date of retirement.

Graduate Faculty:

The quality of graduate programs and the enhancement of the reputation of the University of Georgia as a leading public institution rests with the Graduate Faculty. The purpose of the Graduate Faculty is to provide advanced research and practical training and to supervise the research and professional skills development of graduate students. The Graduate Faculty shall consist of faculty with an earned doctorate or highest terminal degree from an accredited institution or who have equivalent professional experience in their discipline and who are full-time regular faculty, adjunct faculty or retired graduate faculty.

Graduate Faculty status at the University of Georgia is required for all faculty teaching advanced-level (8000 and 9000) graduate courses, as well as for those serving as major professor to doctoral students as well as Master of Arts and Master of Science students.

Graduate Faculty members must teach graduate courses effectively, engage in research of high quality, and direct the work of graduate students so that they progress toward graduation in a timely manner. A faculty member’s failure to meet these expectations will result in removal from the Graduate Faculty.

Negative Votes, Further Reviews, and Appeals at the college level:
Should the vote be negative, the faculty member may provide additional information and the graduate faculty members of the department will reconsider the reappointment. A Department Head/Director, or at least half of Graduate Faculty members in the unit petitioning the Department Head/Director in writing, may initiate a review of Graduate Faculty status outside of the Post-Tenure Review cycle, such as at the time a faculty member is being reviewed for promotion to professor. Such a request may happen only once in between regularly scheduled post-tenure reviews. Following the review, continuation will be decided at a meeting of the department’s Graduate Faculty members, by a simple majority of all members present and voting, including written absentee votes.

An appeal of an appointment decision at the department level shall be made in writing within thirty days of the decision date to the associate dean who works with that department. He or she shall convene a division-wide appeals committee to review the appeal and make a recommendation to the Dean. The appeals committee will consist of five Graduate Faculty members, no more than two from any one department and excluding the faculty in the department from which the appeal originated. Decisions about Graduate Faculty status made at the College level may be appealed to the Dean of the Graduate School. Faculty who do not continue on the Graduate Faculty may apply for reappointment each academic year.
