The Department of Mathematics at the University of Georgia invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in August 2018. Duties will consist of research and teaching in mathematics, as well as departmental service. A Ph.D., or equivalent foreign degree, in Mathematics or a closely related field is required. Successful applicants will carry outstanding credentials in mathematical research and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students. Complete applications must be received by November 15, 2017 to ensure full consideration, but review will continue until the positions are filled. The University of Georgia is located in Athens, Georgia, which has a vibrant and engaging intercultural community, about 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

To apply, please submit a vita with a list of publications, a teaching statement, and a research statement, and four letters of recommendation (one addressing the candidate’s teaching skills), through mathjobs.org as well as through FacultyJobs, http://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/2886. Applications are incomplete and will not be considered until entered both on FacultyJobs and MathJobs.

The Mathematics Department, the Franklin College of Arts and Sciences, its many units, and the University of Georgia are committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and students, and sustaining a work and learning environment that is inclusive. Women, minorities, and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status.
