Committee reports:
Steering committee: Committee chair Tom Houser discussed the results of the committee’s October 9th meeting (see minutes attached). Two petitions were considered. The first petition was about the building in which the Institute for Women’s Studies is housed. The committee decided to distribute information about this petition at the senate meeting, but not place the item on the agenda. The second petition, about new TOEFL requirements for graduate teaching assistants, was submitted under “new business” below.
Professional concerns committee: Committee chair Paul Shliekelman presented the results of this committee’s discussions of four concerns from the recent poll: (1) potential changes in teaching loads, (2) more flexible teaching schedules, (3) rising enrollment, and (4) maternity leave (see minutes attached). The committee had passed an internal motion that issues (2) and (3) were not currently actionable because they were being dealt with at other administrative levels with outcomes as of yet unknown.

Planning committee: Michael Hahn spoke for committee chair Jake Short, and asked the senate for clarification on how to act on the issue of graduate faculty status. The presiding officer provided the requested clarification.

Curriculum committee: Yuri Balashov spoke for committee chair Hilda Kurtz. The committee has approved 18 new courses and 7 course changes (committee report attached).

Academic standards committee: Committee chair Mike Tiemeyer reported that they have received 5 requests for course substitutions for graduation requirements; 3 were denied, 1 was approved, and 1 is pending.

Admissions Committee had not met and had no report.

The Committee on Committees (Dawn Robinson, chair) is searching for a final member of the Awards Committee from the physical sciences. Otherwise this committee had no report.

New Business:
Mark Farmer presented a recent memo (24 Sep) from David Knox, Director of Technological and Academic Initiatives at the Graduate School, regarding a new standard for TOEFL scores for international teaching assistants that must be satisfied before the teaching assistants can be in contact with students.

In response, Ron Miller offered the following motion:

“Motion to recommend to Dean Stokes as our representative to other administrative units that the new policy regarding the TAST/TOEFL requirements as stated in David Knox’s memo dated 24 Sep stating a minimum score of 26 TAST/IBT TOEFL or 50 TSE/SPEAK before being in contact with students be temporarily suspended until we have more information about the validity and retroactivity of this policy due to the financial implications for graduate students and current and future instructional staffing needs.”

The motion was seconded by Charles Hopkinson and unanimously approved by the senate.

Adjournment:
The meeting was adjourned at 5:05 pm.

Respectfully submitted,

Bram Tucker, Secretary and Senator from Anthropology
Steering Committee of the Franklin College Faculty Senate
