Remarks by presiding officer Diana Ranson: Professor Ranson reiterated the call for nominations for University Council; announced her intention to propose further changes to the bylaws in February; and reminded senators that anyone who wishes to introduce agenda items should keep in mind that there are only three further meetings this year.

Remarks by Dean Stokes: Dean Stokes reported very positively on a meeting with Provost Morehead to discuss a new recruitment plan, indicating that some recruitment would begin immediately, with more to come in the fall. She emphasized that the persistent problem of instructional budget issues, which affects funding for recruitment, is nearly resolved. But she also spoke of real uncertainty about fiscal year 2012, particularly around possibilities of large budget cuts, other revenues and an improving state fiscal situation. She asked Senators for opinions on how make-up time for snow days had been handled by the administration and advised faculty to be prepared to explain how they had made up the missed time in their own classes. Questions and discussion concerned student course evaluations.

New business:

Proposal for a B.S. degree in Marine Sciences: drew a question on requirements, then passed unanimously.
Grady Proposal for Master of Fine Arts in Narrative Nonfiction Writing & Screenwriting (joint) occasioned no vote as it had been withdrawn for revision and later resubmission.

Academic Standards Committee: Received nine petitions, of which five were approved and are four are pending.

Curriculum Committee: Approved sixteen new courses, seven course proposals and thirty-one course changes.
