Curriculum Item Request: Proposal for New Degree or Major Programs, New Minor Proposals, or New Area of Emphasis

Please provide an explanation/justification for this request:

Justification for New Minor Proposal: Jewish Studies Minor

The courselist in the proposal shows that the Franklin College calendar includes a large number of courses relevant to Jewish Studies. With the hire this year of the Davis Chair in Jewish Studies, and with an Academic Professional Associate in Religion, we are confident that we can regularly offer enough courses to comfortably support such a minor. Moreover, UGA is an outlier in not having a Jewish Studies minor. Of the 30 top public universities (according to US News & World Report), only two (UGA and Georgia Tech) lack a minor (or equivalent) in Jewish Studies, and within the SEC, only three other schools lack a Jewish Studies minor. Having this minor will help Franklin College in its mission to align pre-professional training with area and ethnic studies.

For further details about the Jewish Studies Minor, please see the Minor Proposal Form.

As Department Head, you are affirming that the department procedures have been followed for approval with your unit.

PROPOSAL FOR MINOR PROGRAM OF STUDY

1. School/College: Franklin College of Arts and Sciences
2. Department/Division: Religion
3. Minor Name: Jewish Studies
4. Proposed Effective Date: Fall 2024
5. Which campus(es) will offer this program? Athens
6. Program Description:

The University of Georgia's investment in the growth and development of Jewish Studies has allowed the state's flagship institution to foster a robust and enriching curriculum curated primarily by Religion Department faculty consisting of two full professors and an academic professional associate. With regular course offerings in Religion and courses from supporting Jewish Studies faculty in other units, such as Comparative Literature, English, Philosophy, and SPIA, the Department of Religion proposes a minor in Jewish Studies. The minor will draw from a constituency of students embracing elements across the humanities and social sciences, especially cultural anthropology, history, linguistics, religion, sociology, philosophy, and comparative literature.

A Jewish Studies minor will offer a comprehensive program suited for students with wide-ranging interests, providing access to historical and cultural content with modern day significance. Courses in various disciplines will prepare students to explore and evaluate the many intricacies and valences of Judaism, modern Israel, and Jewish history and culture, allowing students access to Jewish writings, arts, cultures and traditions. A Jewish Studies minor will prepare graduates for careers in education, international relations, international business, public service, and other professions that require strong cultural competency.

7. Program of Study/Requirements:

- A minor must contain at least 9 hours of upper division course work.
- Courses taken to satisfy Core Areas I through V may not be counted as course work in the minor.

Undergraduate Curriculum Committee
Office of the Registrar
University of Georgia

Dear Members of the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee,

I write in support of the proposed minor in Jewish Studies to be offered by the Department of Religious Studies in the Franklin College of Arts and Sciences. The School of Public and International Affairs is excited about the prospective new minor. It is an area of enduring interest for students not only in Religious Studies but across the university, and certainly, for students majoring in International Affairs. We are pleased that SPIA courses INTL 4370, Middle Eastern Politics and INTL 4371, Israeli Politics are included in the proposal. SPIA expects there may be additional INTL courses to propose for addition to the minor in the future.

Please contact me with any questions about the support of the Department of International Affairs and of the School of Public and International Affairs for the proposed minor.

Sincerely,

Matthew A. Auer
Dean and Arch Professor of Public and International Affairs
