Franklin College of Arts and Sciences International Visiting Professor

Call for Applications for Fall 2019

DEADLINE: FRIDAY 2 NOVEMBER 2018

The Franklin College of Arts and Sciences invites Franklin departments to nominate faculty from international research institutions for the FCAS International Visiting Professor program. Preference is given to scholars from institutions with which UGA has an existing relationship, typically in the form of a study abroad or exchange program, or through an International Cooperative Agreement.

This full semester program offers departments the opportunity to invite an international scholar to spend a semester at UGA, teach a course and work on or develop research collaborations in a shared-cost format with the Franklin College.

The Franklin College will cover the following expenses:

- a flat salary of $8000 for teaching a standard, 3-credit course at the undergraduate or graduate level;
- round-trip airfare between the nearest international airport to the visiting professor and Atlanta;
- round-trip ground transportation between the Atlanta airport and Athens;
- 50% of the cost of housing at the UGA Health Sciences Campus or equivalent.

An International Visiting Professor is expected to teach at least one class. Please note that the visiting professor can only be compensated for a class that is actually offered and meets UGA minimum-enrollment requirements. Units are limited to one nominee per year and should develop their own selection criteria for their nominees. Nominations that include course proposals addressing student populations from two or more disciplines are especially encouraged.

NOMINATION PROCESS

Nominations should be submitted by the unit head/director (or heads/directors in the case of collaborative nominations) and should include the following information:

- 1) A cover letter from the head(s)/director(s) that:
  - explains the criteria for the selection of the named nominee;
  - gives the date of the faculty meeting at which the nominee was discussed and offers a tally of the vote for the nominee (yes/no/abstain);
- 2) A completed nomination form;
- 3) The nominee's current c.v.;
- 4) A letter of support from the nominee's home institution.

Final selection of nominees is made by the Franklin College International Studies Committee. The success of the International Visiting Professor program depends on advance planning. For this reason, we ask you to submit your Fall 2019 nominations no later than FRIDAY 2 NOVEMBER 2018.

Nominations should be submitted electronically to Karen Coker at kcoker@uga.edu.

For questions, please contact Associate Dean Martin Kagel at mkagel@uga.edu.
